To Whom It May Concern,

Sub: Polytechnic recommendation letter for Yue En Qi

My student, Yue En Qi, is a brilliant student and I am recommending her for admission at your Polytechnic. I hope that you will consider my recommendation and give her a chance to study at such a reputed institution.

Despite the difficulties of learning Chinese since Primary School, Enqi has never given up and has even put in more effort to challenge herself. She was the only student taking CLB in school and had to travel from WRSS to the Language center (Compassvale Secondary) once a week in the afternoon to attend CLB lessons. The distance and the travelling did not deter her from learning Chinese.

As a motivated and resilient student, she initiated a CLB remedial plan with me in 2022. Even though she does not need CLB as one of her L1R5, she recognises the importance of learning Chinese and wants to improve it as much as she can. During the remedial sessions, she demonstrated discipline and self-motivation. She planned her time wisely, coming up with her study plans and schedule that impressed me. Being self-directed, she was aware of her own learning style and thus, planned strategies to improve her Chinese. Her determination and learning attitude were also commendable. This was evident when she made remarkable progress from session to session.

Apart from the academic area, Enqi is one who upholds strong moral values and has shown her optimism in all aspects of her life. She is a mature student who has always shown concern for her classmates.

With the opportunities, I believe En Qi can excel in any area in the future.

Yours Sincerely,

Mdm Chong Ning Shuang
